Cognitive Sciences and Medieval Studies

An Introduction

Edited by Juliana Dresvina
and Victoria Blud

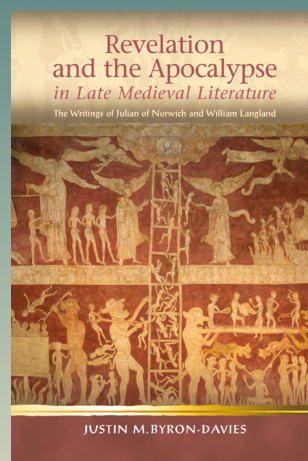

November 2020

9781786836748 •

£70 • HB

This book argues for the value of applying methods deriving from cognitive sciences (such as neuroscience or psychology) to studies of medieval history, literature, art and culture, and suggests ways in which this comparative approach might be achieved.

Revelation and the Apocalypse in Late Medieval Literature

The Writings of Julian of Norwich and William Langland

Justin M. Byron-Davies

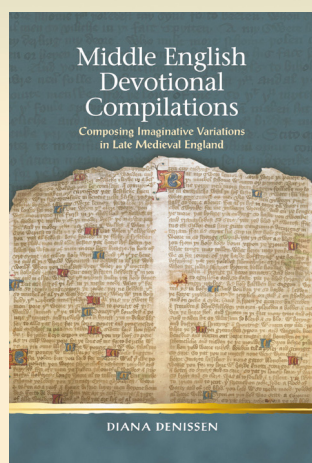

February 2020

9781786835161 •

£70 • HB

This book explores the influence of the biblical Apocalypse on two influential medieval writers who draw upon its rich descriptions and message, relating them to the turbulence of their shared milieu in both similar and strikingly different ways.

Middle English Devotional Compilations

Composing Imaginative Variations in Late Medieval England

Diana Denissen

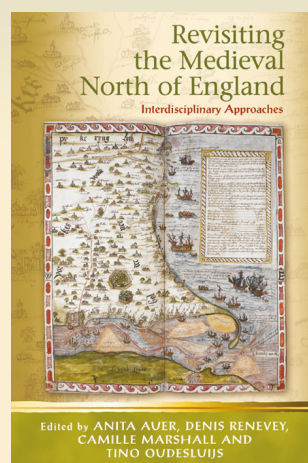

November 2019

9781786834768 •

£70 • HB

In late medieval England, many religious texts were based on older source texts that were collected together and adapted to fit the needs of new, late medieval audiences. This book argues that devotional compilations written in Middle English are unique additions to late medieval textual and religious culture.

Revisiting the Medieval North of England

Interdisciplinary Approaches

Edited by Anita Auer,
Denis Renevey, Camille Marshall
and Tino Oudesluijs

February 2019

9781786833945 •

£35 • PB

The focus of this volume is the north of England and its regions in the late medieval period. Concentrating on the north as a centre of manuscript production, dissemination and reception, this volume illustrates the fluidity of boundaries and communication, and the resulting links to different geographical regions.
